

Traveling with Fido

Our Furry friends are an important part of the family too. RV Camping is a great way to take a family vacation for the whole family. But remember these few things to make sure that you and your furry family members have a good time.

What to bring?

A comfy bed...a little something familiar from home is a great way to ease the anxiety some pets feel when away from home

A favorite chew toy (or stuffy)

Extra leashes

Nite Ize Pet light-Handy little LED that clips to the collar of your pal so that they can be seen in all types of light

Name Tags: Sometimes our friends can get out and explore a bit more than we would like...so make sure that those around the park can help him find his way home. Pet tags with a current phone number and name are crucial to make sure that Fido can find his way home

Snacks

Treats

Food

Portable Water dish

Doggie waste bags (a good leash device with refillables is a great idea)

Flea Comb

When looking for a place to play find a park with a Kamp K-9 or off leash play area that our four legged friends can run off the energy after a long road trip. Some fun play elements and a place to be off leash is a great asset in an RV Campground.

Be sure to follow all leash rules of the park. In most places a 6' leash is a maximum length and if you use a retractable leash, make sure that you mark the 6' mark with a piece of tape or string so that you stop the leash at that length.

Most parks will not tolerate aggressive breeds, so sometimes it is important to know your pet. If they don't like other animals or strangers, it is best to find a family member or friend to sit them.

If you are going to go to the pool or use the facilities of the park where pets aren't allowed make sure that your pet is comfortable inside the RV and doesn't bark to bother the neighbors. Also, clean up after you pet no matter where you are. A clean campground is important for you and for the other guests in the park.

Most Importantly, a dog-friendly RV Park will ensure that furry family members have just as much fun as the rest of your family on vacation!
